

Finding Centennial Science & Engineering Library

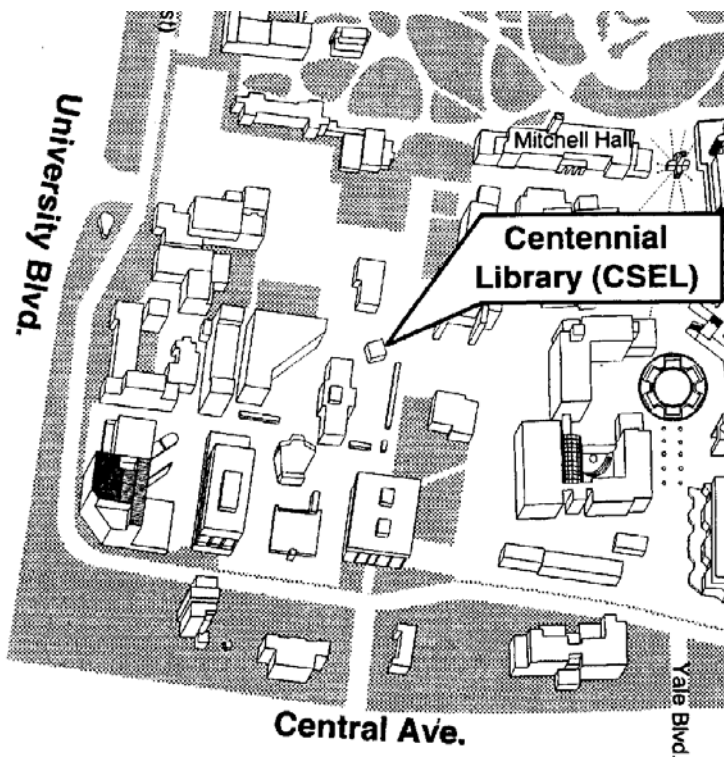

There are two paths to CSEL. You can enter the UNM campus via Yale Blvd., or Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Avenue.

ENTERING CAMPUS FROM YALE BLVD.

Turning north from Central Ave, Yale Ave. leads onto the UNM Campus. Turn west (left) on Redondo Drive. If you have campus parking for Lot "B", take the first turn right, and you can park near the Chemistry & Biology buildings. Centennial Library is northwest of the "B" parking lot. If you do NOT have campus parking, follow Redondo west then north, and there is metered parking on the northwest corner of the campus, on the east side of Redondo. Walk south to the C parking lot, and the entrance to Centennial is accessible through the southeast corner, and is marked with a sign.

ENTERING CAMPUS FROM DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. AVE.

Turn east from Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Ave. onto campus. Go north on Redondo Drive to the metered parking area north of the "C" parking lot. Walk south to the C parking lot. The entrance to Centennial is accessible through the southeast corner, and is marked with a sign.

PARKING NOTE:

The parking situation at UNM is always a tough issue. Parking can be hard to find. The visitor's parking lot can be reached from Stanford and Central. Current pricing is $6.00 per day. Alternate parking suggestions are the meter parking on Central Ave, the parking lots south of Central located on Buena Vista & Silver, Yale & Gold, and University near Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Ave.
